

PETITION PROCESS

Effective Spring 2024 if you failed a dual credit course you have the following options:

You may continue in the subject area of any course(s) you passed successfully as long as you remain in good standing with TCC. A petition is not required.

If you failed a course in a specific subject you may not continue to take courses in that subject area. For example: If you failed HIST and want to take GOVT or ECON you would need to petition as those are both social studies courses.

If you feel there were extenuating circumstances that led to your course failure, you complete a petition to continue in that subject area. For your petition to be considered:

- You must be in good standing with TCC. Any students on probation or suspension will not be considered.
- You must explain the extenuating circumstances or situation that led to course failure
