Why Is Having a Growth Mindset SO Important??

Research and recent advances in neuroscience show that the brain is, "far more malleable than we ever knew" (MindsetWorks). The idea of "brain plasticity" indicates that with practice, a mindset can be changed and strengthened, as can overall neural growth. This is done through asking questions, using good strategies, and problem solving. For more information on the science behind a growth mindset, visit <https://www.mindsetworks.com/science/>

Say THIS, not that!

I see you worked hard on this!	You're so smart!
I like watching you learn!	You're a natural!
Your effort really paid off! You didn't quit!!	That was hard.
